THE FRENCH ARMY AT CARNAK.

It was where Carnak's temples stood, Lit by the early dawn— But from their depth of solitude Even Memnon's voice was gene. For Time had bushed his lyre at last, Though still in marble pride Far was his lonely shadew cast Upon the desert wide.

Then rose a sound on that still air
Like some far roshing stream.
As with their sonquering eagles there
The Gallic legions came:
They came where Time had lost its power
To waste on Theban walls.
But hung the hush of ages o'er
Her long forsaken halls.

Then rose a sound on that still air

And like deep voices from the Past,
The ancient echoes woke.
As, all at once, that stranger host
Their joy and wonder spoke.
There were the young, the brave, the wise,
A nation's gathered might:
But well might every heart rejoice
To see that glorious sight.

In one brief moment all forgot Their onward path of war, Their onward pain of war,

Or, it might be, remembered not
The land of vines afar;

For long that silent city's fame
Had o'er the nation's shone—
How would she rise upon their dreams.

For ever vast and lone!

And what were thy deep thoughts that hour,
Chief of those warrior men?
Were they of ancient thrones and power.
Or of the desert then?
Or did old Thebes upon the earth.
The mightiest desolate.
In her dim silence shadow forth.

In her dim silence shadow forth Thy far and future fate !

None-none can tell.-But morning light None—none can tell.—But morning
A wendrous splendor shed,
Around that host of banners bright,
And City of the Dead;
But they left her by the lonely Nile,
Where burns the Afric day;
And the glory of the desert still
She stands—but where are they?

SEA SCENES.

MADEIRA-A CALM-CROSSING THE LIN

Madeira-so named from its former abundance of covered with chesnut and pine—was discovered in the reg-of Edward III. of England, by Robert Macham, a 'squire' low degree,' who eloped with Ann Dorsey, a noble maider and, escoping in a small vessel, steered for France. Be tunate lovers were overtaken by a tempest, which swept ther desert and uninhabited. Themselves with difficulty escapito the shore, their back was dashed to pieces. Here mained for years. A rude tomb and cross, erected by the surviving lover, tells that the more fragile vessel was crushed at length by sorrew and privation; but leaves it to the imag nation of the sympathizing wanderer to portray his sad as deplorable fate.

Having recruited the crew and filled up our was Madeira. Alternately fair or adverse, fresh and strong, a light and baffling; the wind more or less propelled us or intil we reached the confines of the trade winds, when 'gra dual sunk the breeze into a perfect culm;' and the surface of the ocean, unmoved by undulation, smooth as a mirror, reflected the black and threatening hull, with its iron teeth protruded, and the tall and tapering spars shrouded with cord age. The sun, ever fierce and fiery in these britisdes, untern pered by the wind, scorched with the intensity of his Binze. The pitch liquefied and ran from the seams; the paint blistered from the sides, and the rosin exuded from the pores of the deck. The very sweepings and offal thrown overboas floated alongside for several fathoms around the ship; th it; and the sea itself, filled with animalculæ, became almosputrescent. For weeks not a solitary bird fanned the at tenuated air; no roaming fish disturbed the slumbers of the deep; listless and inactive on the silent waters, the Amphy deep; listless and inactive on the shert waters, the Amphytrion seemed indeed,

"As idle as a painted ship
Upon a painted occas."

The flour, sugar, vinegar, molasses, and every antiscorbution were soon exhausted. The water became of a ropy treacle-like consistence; and in the bread, 'putrefaction had fermented into life.' The dreaded scurvy soon made its appear ance, and the easily indented flesh proclaimed that death wa preceded by corruption.

Compelled to quench his parching thirst with a fluid more feetid than the stagnant pool, the dying sailor, with his teet! plucked from their spongy, bleeding gums, almost crumblin as he lay, gasped and mouned in his agony. His unsmoother as he my, gaspea and monated in sagony pellow, bedewed with clammy perspiration, and no kindred eye beaming with sympathy—unconsoled by the hopes of religion—reckless through life—unchanged in death—almost unmarked—his spirit obeys the signal from aloft; and a lifeless mass is all that remains of the once hardy and adver

At length a 'catspaw,' faint as a fleeting shadow, slight! darkened a spot upon the water, and then disappeared, leaving no trace behind. Again, another and another, imperceptibly increasing in extent and force, until, commingled at last into one, rippling the ocean with its gentle breath, the favoring breeze came on. The heavy sails flapped lazily against the masts, as if to rouse them for a coming strife; then gradually distending, the ship slow yielding, gracefull; inclined; her prow cleaved the fitthy girdle which environed her, and she resumed her path upon the deep. As we approached the equator, the atmosphere became humid and of pressive. Alike in calms and squalls, we were deluged to frequent rains-compared to which, the heaviest showers a our own more favored clime, are as the dew-drop to the over At times, the arched canopy would be completely overcast by masses of dense black clouds, which metionless, impended and discharged their contents in one

At night, the sea became brilliantly phosphotescent; an the spray, as dashed aside by the advancing prow, fell over in curls of flame. Here, a beautiful track, clear, distinct and sparkling, betrayed the course of the flying dolphin. It the bold, rapacious shark—the tiger of the deep—whose impetuous rush left a broad and flaring wake-soon lost in om bright, refulgent whirl, as the destroyer closed upon his vic tim: there, a rushing sound, as a whale, disturbed in his slumbers, floundered for an instant, and then, through an slumers, houndered for an instart, and there are significant illumined path, plusged deep into the recesses of his native element. The day which introduced us to another hemisphere, was preceded by a night of surpassing loveliness. Undisturbed and quiet as a sleeping infant, the calm and placid occur lay in beautiful repose;—its very heavings, as if moved by the modulation of sweet sounds, so gentle, as not to impair the

As the night waned, faint streaks of light, like messengers of the many colored Iris, tinged the dark clouds,-gradually the bues became brighter and more expanded,—the violet became purple,—the purple reddened into crimson,—and suddenly, as from a bed of flame, the sun sprang out of the ocean. Like suppliant courtiers in a royal train—supine only in their menurch's absence—the winds, balmy and zephyr-like, followed the sun in his ascending path, and, by diffusing, tempered the best of his

IMPORTANT HIN'IS ON THE MANAGEMENT OF TEETH.
The Teeth, though the hardest animal substance, yield soonest to treatment easily preserved. It is no vain boast of the skifful Dentist, that diseases of the Teeth are ordinarily subject to his control; indeed it may be regarded as settled in the public mind, that judicious treatment secures their permanence. The Teeth, composed subtantially of lime, are of course easily decomposed by scids; and oxygen being the base of acids, we are led to two important facts in the preservation of the Teeth.

1st Keep acids out of the mouth, and every thing out of the stemach that generates acide there, and your health and Teeth are comparatively safe.

CAUTION.—The high character of these Pens has induced the attempt, on the part of several disregutable makers, to practice a fraud, not only upon Mr. Gillott, but also upon the public. An inferior article bearing the misspelled name, thus, Gillot, omitting the final r. is now in the market. It can readily be detected by its unfinished appearance, and the very common style in which it is putup.

THE EAGLE COOKING STOVE.

THIS newly invented Cooking Store adapted to the use of Coal or Wood, is far superior to any other now in use. The over, which is larger than that of any other Store of the same size, is protected in part by a patent guard-plate which prevents it from becoming too much heated, and server also to protect the due from becoming filled with coal or other Store than the farst. It also has a patent damper in for the purpose of conveying off the vapor arising from cooking, and also the dast art ing from the coal. The back boilers, which in other Stores are rendered almost useless by their remoteness from the blaze, are so situated as to receive the same benefit from the fire is those in front. Another very important recommendation to the Eagle Cooking Stove is that it requires less fuel than any other pattent now in use. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves, at THOMAS FRAZIER'S, No. 206 Water-street, Where may be found a variety of the most superior patterns of Jy28-im.

Parties, and other Stoves.

Parties, and other diseases of the skin, are safely, certainly and expeditiously cured by the use of SANDS CELEBEATED REMEDY FOR SALT RHYUM, which has now been thoroughly tested in rising SIX THOUSAND different cases without naving failed in any, where directions have been attended to. Every person afflicted with either of the above diseases, is invited to make immediate use of the of this valuable remetly, and get cured without delay.

The care in all cases is warranted. We select the following extracts from certificates as evidence of its wonderful efficacy.

Mrs. Margaret Clark, of New York, has just been cured of a severe and long standing case of Salt Rheum. In her certificate ship says—"I tried various popular medicines, and was under the care of two eminent physicians, but my complaint buffled their skill. After noticing the extraordinary cure of Mrs. Chapman, No. 79 Chatham at I was induced to purchase some of the ramedy. Immediately on applying it I began to recover, and am now entirely well." The case of Elizabeth Spear of Bellingham, Mass, a lady of 73 years of age, is truly an interesting one; one box and a bottle of the Compound Extract of Sarsaparslia removed the disease and made a perfect cure, after having been afflicted more than twenty years. Mrs. Almen Gardener, of Norwich, Ct. was perfectly cured after the disease had existed for twenty-five years if its worst form. Edwin Porter, merchant, of Fall River, Mass.; Joseph Clare, No. 259 Washington-st. N. Y.; John Parker, farmer, of Staten Island, and

PROTORAL MONEY OF LIVERWORT.

TOR Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Shortness of Breath and all Affections of the Heart and Lungs, leading to CONSUMPTION. Reader, yes have tried many medicates for your cold. Have you had a bottle of NOWILL'S PECTORAL HONEY OF LIVER-WORT? Try it. It is assuredly the best medicine over offered to the public. The testimonials tendered and the high culoginus given this last winter from those who have taken it, attest at once its superior rirtue. It is from this cause that we are induced to make it as popular as possible, though it has increasingly received the public approphation amounting to about fifty thousand bottles per annua. No puffor a divertisement has slow this to how on the sufferer a watery colored solution, and inefficacious medicino, thereby hastening a sneare to its fatal terramaties—the pull alone sustaining the hopes of the patient, until hopes are gone.

its fatal terismation—the pull alone sustaining the hopes of the patient, until hopes are gone.

The preparation of the Hoaey of Liverwort is solely composed of vegetable ingredients simple in their nature, but in combination not not provided in the combination and the provided in the combination of the provided in the provided in the system generally. No medicine ever offered to the public can be said to have restored to health so great a number of persons in consumptive complaints as Nawill's Pectoral Honey of Liverwoot. It should be kept in all families, to administer upon the first symptom of cold or cough, as inattention and neglect are the causes of numbers losing their ires, especially in consumptive cases.

This medicine, offered to the public at the low price of Two Shillings, is accessible to all. For sale wholesale and retail at the principal Depot, 64 Madison, cor. Catherine-st; H. V. MPORTANT NOTICE. Morison's Pills, The IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Morison's Pills.—The Public of America are inforsied, that the British College of Health, London, have disensed Mr. Taylor, of 94. Broadway, New-York, as their General Agent, and that now, therefore, they have ne longer a general agent in America. This is particularly impressed on the people of the United States, as it is well known that several individuals are endeavoring to palm off their Medicines under the pice that they are acting as General Agents to the Extablishment in London.

Merchants, Traders, Agents and others, may be supplied on the same terms as their late agent, Mr. Taylor, by sending their orders direct to Messrs, MORISON, at the British College of Health, Hamilton Place, New Road, London, when they will obtain at the same time a Cortincate of the genuinciness of the Medicines.

Look for the revocation of Mr. Taylor's appointment and other particulars, in the New-York and other papers. All debts owing to Mr. Taylor for Morison's Medicines, are to be paid to Messrs. FIRTH & HALL, of Franklin Square, New-York.
